Championing the DEMENTIA FRIENDLY INITIATIVE throughout Dane County Since 2013
MESSAGE FROM JOE PARISI,
DANE COUNTY EXECUTIVE

Dane County first championed the dementia friendly initiative in 2013. Since then, our area has worked hard to become a dementia friendly community. Whether it be through trainings and special events or memory care kits and meetings, we have dedicated ourselves to raising awareness about dementia and creating a network of resources to better our community.

A huge thank you goes out to ADRC staff, the Dementia Friendly Community Coalitions of Dane County, and the many volunteers who have helped make this initiative such a success.

Our dementia friendly initiative ties into the ADRC of Dane County’s larger mission of supporting seniors, adults with disabilities, their families, and caregivers. We are committed to serving Dane County residents and operating as a one-stop shop for those in search of information or assistance.

The ADRC is a vital part of the Dane County Department of Human Services. Thanks to our staff, we have helped countless residents find resources and care when they weren’t sure where else to turn. 2019 was an eventful year for the ADRC of Dane County, and I look forward to continuing our hard work as we kick off a new decade.

The information in this report came from submissions from organizations and community leaders involved. We apologize if we have left out any information.

BUILDING UNDERSTANDING

Dementia Friendly communities, businesses & organizations are trained to understand and respond to:

⇒ Signs of dementia
⇒ Causes of dementia
⇒ Ways to better communicate with a person living with memory loss and dementia
⇒ Ways to support friends and neighbors living with or caring for someone with dementia
⇒ Resources available
⇒ How to get help

A dementia friendly community is one that has looked at its environment through the eyes of a person with dementia, then does everything it can to make it a place where they can continue to live as independently as possible. When memory changes begin, many become more isolated, which frequently hastens the cognitive decline. A community that understands dementia will be one that supports and cares for its neighbors who are struggling to deal with loss of memories, loss of the ability to do routine activities, loss of jobs, loss of independence, and loss of self.
We celebrate the Dane County communities, businesses and organizations that have joined the initiative to make Dane County Dementia Friendly. We appreciate your continued efforts to provide consistent messaging about what it means to be Dementia Friendly and to implement new methods and procedures to facilitate this. During 2019 more businesses and organizations have been trained to increase awareness and better serve community members who are affected by dementia. There have also been numerous community outreach events.

FROM THE DESK OF THE DEMENTIA CARE SPECIALIST

This is a letter from a Caregiver sent at Thanksgiving. He gave permission for us to share it, but asked that their names be changed. He is providing loving care for his wife who was a teacher, a traveler, a mother, a friend and someone who had great impact on others.

I’m sorry for not having written much, much sooner about my wife’s state of mind and health. There is so much to say and almost nothing to say. “Zen and the Art of Alzheimer’s”... but here goes:

First, your friendship and concern for Sue is, I think, the absolute best medicine for her. I just didn’t know there was a factory turning out kind, thoughtful and helpful humans around here, but I’m glad there is.

Sue is pretty much unable to keep her way in the world. She needs others (that’s you and me) to guide her through a day. Her mood varies a lot; from laughter to tears, and despair and dejection ... but knowing there are those of us who care and can keep her connected to the outer world, works wonders.

Mostly her mind – and mouth – wander into gardens unknown to those of us. Her thoughts are seemingly held together with sealing wax and tape. Not necessarily things of beauty, but nonetheless...

One thing that has proven the hardest is Sue’s hygiene and hair. She simply refuses to bathe and wash her hair. I don’t think she is too odiferous, but she is not “presentable” in public. Her dress is idiosyncratic, to say the least. However, there is a certain dignity about her and the way she wears her illness. I’ve noticed when we do go out, people may take an extra half look at her, but I’ve never seen anyone flinch. Even children. It’s obvious she is on edge, but very human.

When she goes for walks with her friends and our neighbors she is... shall I say... a good listener. She finds it difficult to make small talk of her own, but she often seems “there”. Sometimes not.

People ask me how I’m doing and, honestly, I tell them “I have no idea.” We have two wonderful neighborhood caretakers who come in for a total of eight hours a week. This, at least, allows me to work out, and occasionally have time for my friends. Of course, we also have our wonderful grandson, he’s a great battery recharger!

So, Sue is still a wonderful human being, no matter how difficult things are for her. I just want to say “Thank you all so very much.”

Joe

This is the reminder of why we do what we do. People who are living with dementia are “very human”. It is our job to help them feel supported, accepted and understood. This is humankind, this is human kindness. They are us, we are them. Let’s keep fighting for a world that allows for cognitive diversity.

BASHFORD UNITED METHODIST CHURCH

Contact: Rev. Kory Douglass
(608) 249-9222 | bashfordkory@gmail.com
329 North Street, Madison, 53704

Bashford UMC was excited to become an officially dementia-friendly congregation in 2019! We had at least half of our active worshipping population learn about dementia and how to be dementia-friendly. It took some time to have enough congregants read over, watch, or experience the training materials, but it has been worth it. We’re proud to have the decals on our doors, representing another way in which we strive to make our community one in which as many people as possible feel safe and welcome.

As other faith traditions do, our church’s tradition teaches us to attend to the needs of the outsider and the overlooked. Being dementia-friendly is an important part of what this means to us. It is easy to be cynical about religious organizations and assume they don’t practice what they preach. While we have work to do, we sincerely want to live out what we claim to. This extends to our efforts to be dementia-friendly, and we continue to explore what more we can do.

We have tried to live out our dementia-friendliness in different ways. We have preached about it on Sundays. We brought in a neuroscientist to talk with our members about the science of dementia and aging. We state that we are dementia-friendly on our bulletins, our e-news, and our website. We continue to live into being a dementia-friendly congregation.

Bashford UMC so appreciates the work that the ADRC is doing to help Dane Country become aware of, and respond compassionately to, the reality of dementia that so many people live with. It is so easy to forget these members of our community. We are pleased to play a small part in spreading awareness and knowledge about dementia.

2019 HIGHLIGHTS:

› CARE was able to make our evidence-based dementia friendly training materials freely available to community groups statewide, thanks to generous support from the Evjue Foundation. We sent our Dementia Friendly Toolkit and simulation equipment to groups in 52 of Wisconsin’s counties, including public libraries, senior centers, dementia friendly community groups and Aging and Disability Resource Centers. The Toolkit includes six role-play scenarios based on barriers commonly experienced by people living with dementia and their family caregivers, plus all the information needed to lead groups through the scenarios.

› CARE supported the Summer 2019 offering of the service-learning course we helped develop, “Community supports for people living with dementia.” Students volunteered with the Pheasant Branch Conservancy, Capitol Lakes Music and Memory Project, West Madison Dementia Friendly Group, Brookdale Senior Living, Dane County Dementia Care Specialist and Alzheimer’s Association, in addition to doing course work on racial and ethnic disparities, person-centered care, communication skills and the role of family caregivers.

› School of Nursing Assistant Professor Andrea Gilmore-Bykovskiyi, PhD, RN, a CARE Affiliate, and her research team worked with Dane County Dementia Care Specialist Joy Schmidt and Madison School and Community Recreation (MSCR) to develop and offer an MSCR class for people age 50 and older called “Brain and Body Fitness.” The ten-week class combines gentle exercise with information about brain health, plus “brain fitness exercises” that include word games and puzzles.

› School of Nursing faculty and CARE Affiliates Andrea Gilmore-Bykovskiyi, PhD, RN, and Lisa Bratzke, PhD, RN, ANP-BC, FAHA presented as part of an Evidence-Based Health Policy Project Capitol Briefing on “Communities as Caregivers: Policies for a Dementia-Friendly State.”

The Friends of Pheasant Branch organized as a not-for-profit organization in 1995. The mission statement guides all of the work of the 15 member board of directors and that of the standing committees that include: Accessibility and Use, Education, Governance, Restoration and Management and Watershed. In 2020, the Friends will be celebrating the 25th Anniversary (1995 - 2020). Community members of all ages who enjoy the Pheasant Branch Conservancy are invited to join the celebration. There will be seasonal events and activities throughout 2020.

2019 HIGHLIGHTS:

In 2019, the Friends of Pheasant Branch Conservancy’s Accessibility Committee continued to reach out to previously under-served adult populations. “Make a Memory” program events for individuals with memory challenges and those with limited mobility were planned and implemented with an emphasis on the health benefits of being outside and engaging the senses of hearing, scent, touch and vision.

This is the fourth year this committee has offered program events. Between June and September 2019 several different events actively engaged over 75 older adults. The “Make a Memory” program events included:

- Memory Care Residents (Program focus on Sounds of Nature & Music)
- Dementia Friendly Community Memory Cafés (Program focus on Slow Walks and the concept of Forest Bathing)
- Independent Seniors (Program focus on the Effigy Mounds Hike)
- Limited Mobility (Program focus on the Creek Corridor)

A grant from the Bader Philanthropies Inc. has allowed the Friends to provide this support. Several of these program events and other activities can be viewed on the Friends’ website www.pheasantbranch.org.

2019 ACCOMPLISHMENTS:

- A goal of the Friends of Pheasant Branch Conservancy Board is to reach under-served populations in the community and surrounding areas. To achieve this goal we formed active partnerships with various organizations. The committee’s accomplishments the past few years have been linked to the establishment of these collaborative partnerships. These partners have provided advice, guidance and volunteer hours to support the goals of the Accessibility and Use committee.

- After many months of planning with the City of Middleton Parks and the Dane County Parks, new Wayfinding maps and signage will be posted along the trails of the Pheasant Branch Conservancy and made available on-line for printing.

GOALS FOR 2020 & BEYOND:

These goals are joint projects between the Friends of Pheasant Branch Conservancy and key government partners that include the City of Middleton and Dane County.

- Mapping – The printing of maps with designated rest areas (existent and new benches or boulders) and the estimated distance between them.

- Signage – modification of trail signage to include simplified and standard language; possible inclusion of QRC codes.

- Dane County property acquisition.
“Slow Walks” – The planning continues to identify short walking loops for those with limited mobility “and/or dementia in the Conservancy and some other city and county parks.

The Accessibility and Use Committee will continue to collaborate with the city and the county to implement their improvement plans (2018-2023) and the goals and objectives of the Friends’ updated Strategic Plan (2020-2025).

Huge is the landscape, it makes my troubles small.

MUSIC & MEMORY MATINEE 2019 REPORT:

On June 12, 2019, the Music & Memory Matinee was held at the Middleton Performing Arts Center, providing an afternoon of musical entertainment for approximately 280 individuals from Dane County long-term care communities and the general public.

More than 20 volunteers assisted with the event allowing for a smooth flow both into, during, and after the matinee. The volunteers escorted the attendees as they arrived into the Performing Arts Center foyer and experienced ushers in the theatre assisted the attendees to their seats. One amazing volunteer documented the afternoon through his gift of photography, capturing moments that words can’t describe.

The “Larry Busch Big Band” performed two sets of music running for an hour and a half. The fifteen-piece band included two vocalists who sang many popular songs from the 1930s, 40’s and 50’s. To encourage participation from attendees, song lyrics for six of the songs were displayed on a large projection screen above the stage. Throughout the performance, the planning committee observed many residents and staff singing along, as well as a few dancing!

In addition to the music, the planning committee arranged for community agencies to provide information and resources to attendees. The community agencies in attendance were:
